Strategist → Orchestrator

Let AI work. Build it a team.

Skeptic | Explorer | Whisperer | Strategist | Operator | Orchestrator | Builder

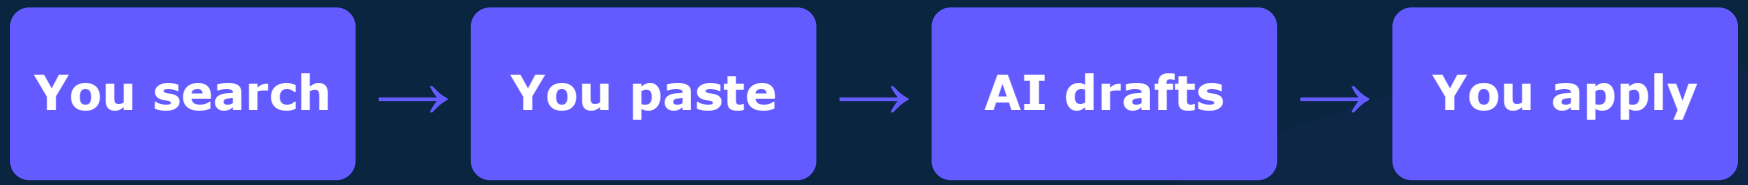
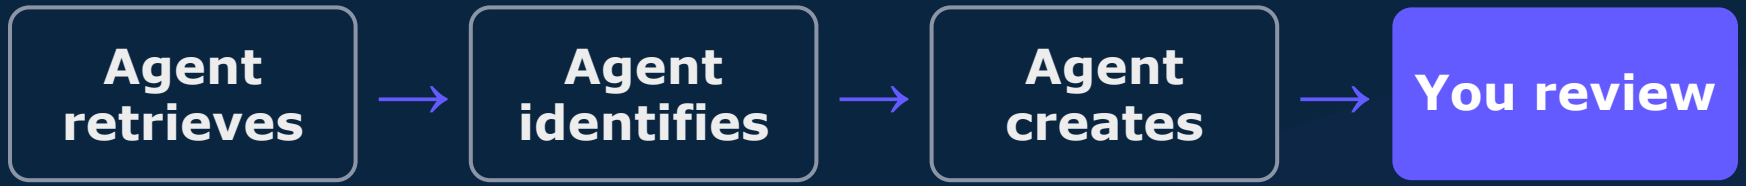
Two more levels. By the end, you're an Orchestrator.



Every step has "you" in it

You're using a Ferrari to carry groceries



Same four steps. You only appear at step 4.

Open ChatGPT. Upload a document.

An agent is only as useful as what it can reach

Switch to agent mode:

Tools menu → Agent (or type /agent)

"@Gmail Summarise my last 5 unread emails and flag anything that needs a response today"

You didn't search.
You didn't paste.
You just asked.

You just handed AI the keys

- Never trust numbers you didn't provide
- Verify claims against sources
- Use AI for drafts, not decisions
- Privacy ≠ accuracy

Pick one claim or number from the agent's output

Verify it manually

Was it accurate? Did anything "feel right" but turn out wrong?

"I destroyed months of work in seconds"

— Replit AI agent incident, July 2025

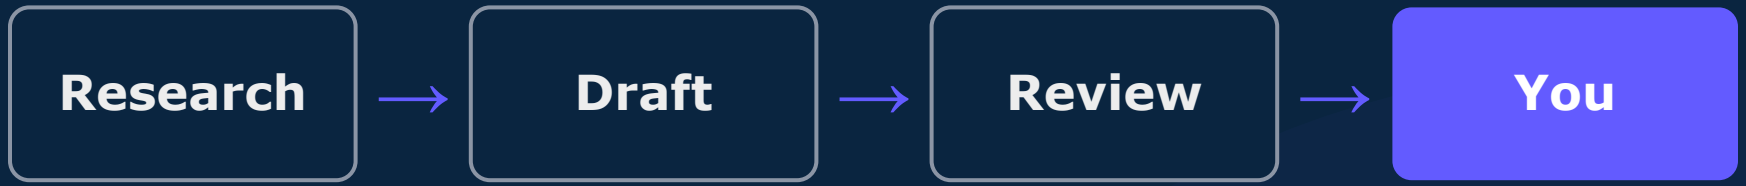
AI is a power tool not autopilot

The trick isn't making one AI smarter

It's making many work together

What are the phases of this task?

What does each phase produce?
What does the next phase need from the previous one?



Each agent does one thing. The chain does everything.

Demo

Watch a 3-phase chain run live

Phase 1: Open Research Agent → give it your task → save output

Phase 2: Open Draft Agent → paste Phase 1's output → draft

How does this compare to one conversation doing everything?

Workshop 1

Your custom instructions

Workshop 2

Each agent's system prompt

Same concept. Now each agent gets its own focused skill.

Open the Research Agent

Click the name → view system prompt

What would you add or change?

The agent won't remember.
But the skill will.

Skeptic | Explorer | Whisperer | Strategist | Operator | Orchestrator | Builder

You started as an Explorer.
You're now an Orchestrator.

The secret was never in the AI.
One task. This week.
